for over 2000 years our culture has believed in the possibility of a single true account of the world now this age is coming to a close as a result there is a deep unease we are lost both as individuals and as a culture in the new relativistic post modern era we have no history no right or moral action and no body of knowledge in their place is a plethora of alternative and sometimes incompatible theories from fuzzy logic to consilience proposing a theory of everything closure is a response to this crisis it is a radically new story about the nature of ourselves and of the world closure exposes the central questions of contemporary philosophy language and meaning of the individual and identity of truth and reality but it is also philosophical in the broader everyday sense that it enables us to make sense of where and who we are a central principle the process of closure is shown to be at the heart of experience and language as a theory of knowledge it has dramatic consequences for our understanding of the sciences involving a reinterpretation of what science does and how it is able to do it it similarly proposes a profound shift in the role of art and religion but above all it reshapes our understanding of ourselves and the organisation of society our goals and our capacity to achieve them a superb new account of how order is created out of disorder closure is an exhilarating work of conceptual geography this book shows how aesthetic understanding of organizations can extend our knowledge and sharpen our insights into many processes that shape organizational action organizational life is pervaded by aesthetics yet conventional organizational analysis has been dominated by a scientific logico rational tradition that ignores the aesthetic dimension the book highlights the role of emotion in organizations the importance of symbol the subjective influence of culture and the processes of learning and cognition these phenomena are related to the aesthetic rather than to purify rational demanding new modes of inquiry that allow us richer insight into the dynamics of organizational life organization and aesthetics provides a powerful new lens through which the daily ever changing complexity of organizations can be better understood by students researchers and managers skepticism and cognitivism addresses the fundamental question of epistemology is knowledge possible it approaches this query with an evaluation of the skeptical tradition in western philosophy analyzing thinkers who have claimed that we can know nothing after an introductory chapter lays out the central issues chapter 2 focuses on the classical skeptics of the academic and pyrrhonistic schools and then on the skepticism of david hume chapters 3 through 5 are devoted to contemporary defenders of skepticism keith lehrer arne næss and peter unger in chapter 6 author oliver a johnson dons the mantle of skeptic himself and develops and adds theories to the skeptical arsenal he closes with an examination of the relationship between skepticism and cognitivism reaching and defending conclusions on the nature and extent of possible human knowledge this title is part of uc press s voices revived program which commemorates university of california press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 voices revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology this title was originally published in 1978 in this volume van der auwera attempts to clarify the idea that language reflects both mind and reality and to elucidate the reflection idea by turning it into the cornerstone of a linguistic theory of meaning
